Specific acreages for public fishing are not available because States often own the lakebed, i.e., the land beneath the lake water, within refuge boundaries.

* Lands open to public hunting and fishing are subject to State law and Federal regulations (see <http://www.fws.gov/refuges/hunting/huntfishregs.html>).

 Total NWR acreage includes nearly 55 million submerged acres in refuges in marine national monuments (e.g., Mariana Trench NWR), as well as nearly 1 million acres of conservation easements where private landowners retain fee ownership, and, in most cases, control over public access. Many of the acres under easement are enrolled in State programs that provide public hunting opportunities; however, the Service does not track which lands private landowners have enrolled in these programs.

Specific acreages for public fishing are not available because States often own the lakebed, i.e., the land beneath the lake water, within WMDs.

* Wetland Management Districts (WMDs) are complexes that manage Waterfowl Production Areas (WPAs). This table also includes Marshall County WPA, a WPA that is currently managed by Agassiz NWR due to its proximity to that unit.

 Fee title lands acquired as WPAs (managed by WMDs) are open to public hunting of migratory game birds, upland game, and big game, as well as fishing, subject to State law and Federal regulations (see <http://www.fws.gov/refuges/hunting/huntfishregs.html>).

 Total WMD acreage includes more than 3 million acres of minimally restrictive wetland and grassland easements (see <http://www.fws.gov/policy/341fw6.html>), where landowners retain control over public access. Many of these acres are enrolled in State programs that provide public hunting opportunities; however, the Service does not track which lands private landowners have enrolled in these programs. All WMDs are open to public hunting except for the Lacreek and Tamarac WMDs which consist entirely of easements.
