EASTERN MONTANA - NGP REPORT - WINTER; Dec. 1988 - Feb. 1989

Please send to: Charles Carlson, Box 227, Ft. Peck, Mont. 59223 by March 9.

INSTRUCTIONS: The species listed here include those likely to occur in the winter. Those marked with an asterisk deserve some comment, and in some cases a documentation form may be requested. Space is necessarily limited on this form. If you have too much to fit in the space, put it on additional sheets. The same goes for species not included on the list.

OBSERVERS NAMES (Please include middle initial)

Compiler: Thad Fuller ~~TFE~~ (TLF)

Others: Stephen Martin (left station 1/27/89 (SJM))
Kermit Bolstad (KEB)
Dennis Nelson

GENERAL COMMENTS: (weather, trends, etc.)

Snows during late December and early January have filled small tree groves and all upland cover. Only shelter from mid-Jan through Feb is in wetlands and large tree claims. Crust on snow made difficult feeding for resident birds.

MOST IMPORTANT OBSERVATIONS:

Only snowy owl sighted in mid November

Homestead unit, Medicine Lake NWR

- east-s.e. end of Kunaia Bay

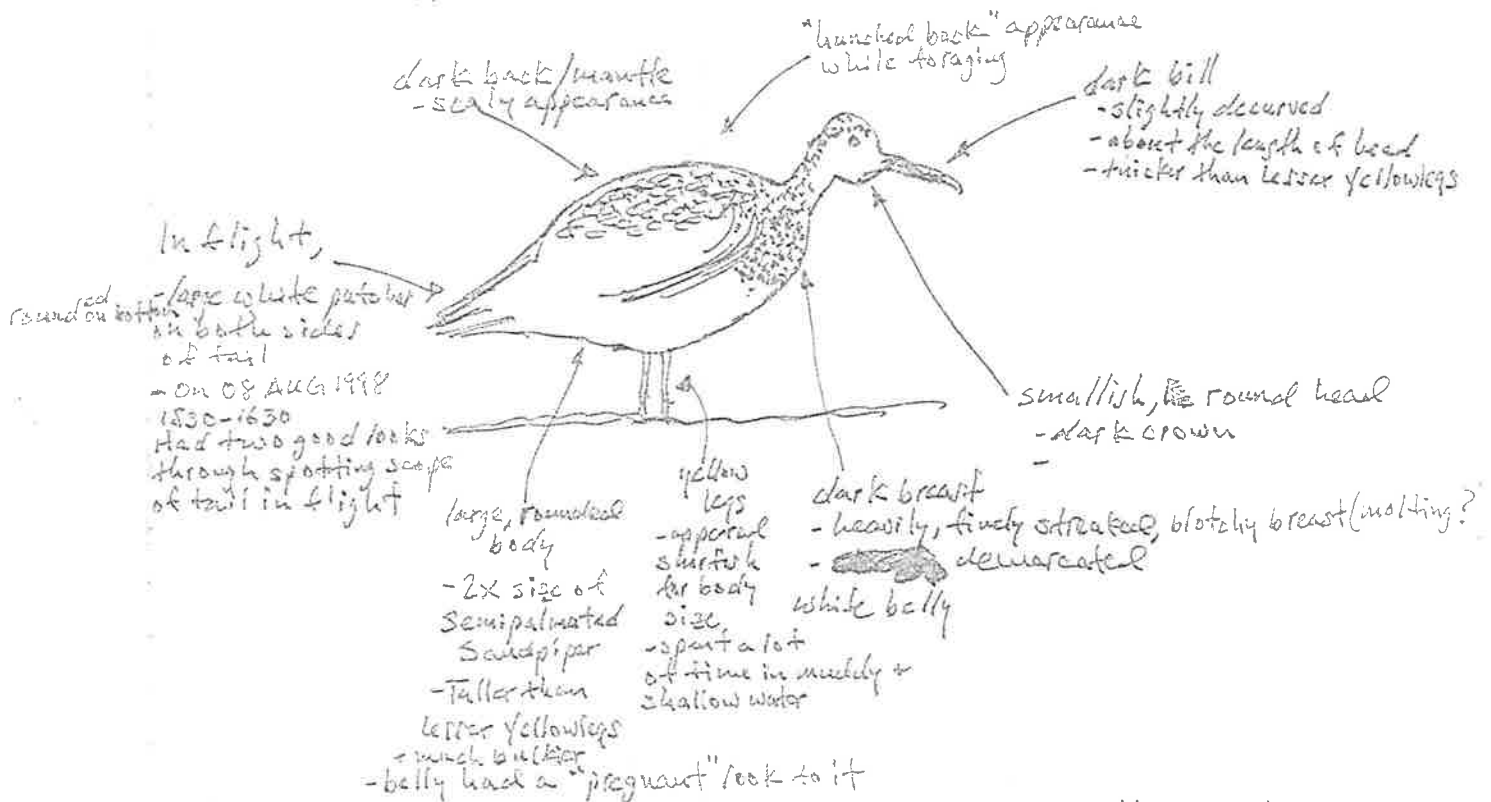

0800-1000 L. TANINO

High clouds (~80% cover) 65-70° calm/variable winds 1-5 mph

RUFF

IDEAL VIEWING CONDITIONS
~50 meters away from bird

- dark brown upperparts; scaly back
- yellow legs; appears shortish compared to body size
- smallish head w/ short bill (about length of head), slightly decurved
- 2x size of Semipalmated Sandpiper
- dark, streaked breast; ~~demarcated~~ demarcated
- large white patches on both sides of tail in flight
- obs. foraging in mudflats w/ LEYL, LESA, SEPL, SESA
- appeared to have a "hunched back" look

- Having seen this species a few times in Hawaii over the past several years, my first thought was a Ruff before looking at a field guide.

- On 08 AUG 1998 (1530-1630), Ruff was seen foraging w/ several Pectoral Sandpipers. Large size difference between both species (Ruff was approx 1/4 - 1/2 size larger).

Dear Chuck:

Whoops! I just found the note reminding myself to send you the summer bird report. You didn't miss much - no unusual breeders. Thought I would send you the plover and colonial bird numbers for your information anyway.

Piping Plovers

Medicine Lake NWR - 32 pairs (93 adults)
Rest of Sheridan Co. - 21 pairs (71 adults)

The refuge has had from 31 to 34 pairs of nesting plovers the past 3 years. Numbers declined drastically elsewhere, primarily the result of several large alkali lakes in the Westby area remaining completely dry in May and June. By the time they partially refilled in July, it was too late.

Colonial Nesters

Colonial bird nesting surveys on the refuge found 3899 white pelican nests (+64% from 1992), 62 cormorant nests (-75%), 23 great blue heron nests (+230%), and 16 black-crowned night heron nests (+7%). A total of 1290 ring-billed gull (-19%) and 1587 California gull nests (+36%) were tallied. No common, Forester, or Caspian tern nests were located this year. The large increase in pelican nesting was unexpected due to the complete fish winterkill in Medicine Lake last winter.

Pelican production was extremely poor this year with an estimated 700 young fledged. Over 800 young were found dead in mid-July following several inches of rain and unseasonably cold temperatures over the 4th of July weekend. No evidence of disease was found by the National Wildlife Health Lab in Madison, WI. Exposure was the suspected culprit.

I just read your Montana Birding News newsletter - great idea. Montana's birders are fortunate to have someone with your dedication in our ranks!

Take care!

Regards,

MEMORANDUM

DATE: November 3, 1995
TO: Montana Audubon Council, Montana Natural Heritage Program
FROM: Ronnie K. Sanchez, Assistant Manager, Medicine Lake NWR
SUBJECT: Bird Sightings, Updated Skaar's Montana Bird Distribution

Enclosed you will find a computer print out of Medicine Lake National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) and Northeastern Montana Wetlands Management District (WMD) bird observations starting from September 1991 to the present. This print out shows the date, species, number of birds, location, the observer, and a quick note describing the type of observation.

Along with the print out is a disk containing the same information using dBASE III PLUS. The disk should help to quickly find the information needed with the hard copy as backup.

Medicine Lake NWR and its WMD are situated on the glaciated rolling plains of northeastern Montana. All observations were made from within these areas and fall in Latilong #12.

The address and telephone number will remain the same for each observation.

Re: Your Bird Sightings Are needed by November 1, 1995

Bird Sightings Needed!

Get your binoculars warmed up and your field notebooks out. We need your bird sightings for the updated version of P. D. Skaar's Montana Bird Distribution.

The Montana Audubon Council, the Montana Natural Heritage Program, and the Montana Department of Fish, Wildlife & Parks are coordinating the revision of Skaar's Montana Bird Distribution (MBD). The publication of the 5th edition is scheduled for spring, 1996.

This book summarizes information on where birds are found in Montana. It lists every species ever observed in the state and presents, for each bird, maps that show breeding and wintering areas. The book was first published by Dr. Skaar in 1975.

MBD is a summary of thousands of individual bird observations. Its value depends on the efforts of hundreds of birdwatchers - like you - in recording and reporting such observations. For the 5th edition, we need your sightings no later than November 1, 1995. We ask that you submit whatever you can as soon as you can, to avoid a deluge in November.

All of your bird records and observations since September, 1991 should be submitted. For common species, we ask that each individual submit only one record for a given species in a given area.

As in the 4th edition, breeding bird information will be presented on the basis of quarter-latilongs. Montana is divided into 47 areas, or latilongs. Latilongs and quarter-latilongs can be found in the current edition of MBD. If you aren't sure which quarter-latilong your observation is from, please use Township, Range and Section information. This information can be found on topographic maps at your local sporting goods store.

If you have any comments about the format of the current edition, please let us know now. We will be using basically the same format as the 4th edition, but will consider any of your ideas to make the book more friendly to users.

Send your data, comments, donations and questions by November 1 to:

Montana Natural Heritage Program, MBD Project, 1515 East 6th Ave., Helena, MT 59620, 444-3009.
